

Public Speaking - for Teens

We are currently living in a day and age where the demand for possessing a unique array of skill sets is ever evolving. Today's youth are growing up in a time of constant change, where technological advancements have both shaped the way they see the world and how they process information. Having access to all the great benefits that the digital age has to offer (like being able to retrieve information on the internet in seconds or access social media) has allowed today's youth to develop the ability to learn more rapidly and multitask, yet in this digital age of instant results and online communication, the younger generation is also in danger of missing out on the benefits of learning interpersonal skills that will help them become well rounded adults.

To be successful, communication skills are key. Whether it's in the classroom, at home, on the field or preparing for a interview.

Help your children develop confidence, authority and a passionate voice no matter the situation.

It's a skill that develops leadership skills and lasts a lifetime.

Here's what they will learn:

1. Lose the fear of public speaking through relaxation and confidence
2. Develop your voice as an instrument of persuasion & speech personality
3. Use eye contact & body language for maximum impact
4. Improve breathing, diction and vocal tone
5. Build rapport with the audience
6. Add-Lib with confidence
7. Plan, build and deliver speeches

Students will be video taped and critiqued.
